Team Directs Leadership Camp At Cotin

Cotin is a small village in the Cul de Sac plain. Even though it is remote, it is in a strategic place for ministry. We have been sponsoring children who are now becoming leaders in the church and community. But they need training. This has been a burden on the heart of Pastor Evans Cadet who serves at Cotin. He asked Mission To Haiti to help him organize a leadership camp to train young people to become godly leaders. We believe that a generation of godly leaders will transform Haiti.

We presented this proposal to Pastor Jay Hartzell (left) and he was excited to lead out in this event. Together with Daniel and Jennifer Mallory, they developed a three-day curriculum to profile godly men and women from the Bible. We assembled a team of ten volunteers and four of our Haitian workers. We stayed at Cotin during the three-day youth camp. It was an unforgettable experience.

Thirty-two young people, both men and ladies, came with great expectations. Each morning, the group met together to study the life of Joseph. In the afternoons, the guys and girls divided into groups to study other godly characters. Dan brought a portable projector and speakers to show the "Jesus Film" in Creole. People came from all over the area to watch the movie.

Partnership In Missions

Thank You For Helping Us Serve

While the young men took time off in the afternoons to play a game of soccer, the team took time to visit their sponsored children. Dan and Jennifer Mallory (right) visited the home of one of their sponsored children. It was a special opportunity that everyone loved and treasured.

The future of Haiti lies in its young people. One third of Haiti's population is 15 years and younger. More than half of the children from 5 to 17 do not attend school. The Haitian people put a high value on education but few families can afford to send their children to school.

The primary work of Mission To Haiti is helping children receive an education. When you sponsor a child you are not only changing the life of your child, but also the children that follow after them. Doors that were once closed can become open to new opportunities. Barriers that kept young people from learning and growing in the Lord can be removed through your prayers and financial support. Thank you for helping us serve in Haiti. As you sponsor, you will transform the life of a needy boy or girl one child at a time.

Our Newest Sponsor

A few days ago, we received a request to sponsor a child from our website. The new sponsor wrote:

"I am 94 years old and desire that my life be used of the Lord for His glory. This is one way I think that this can happen. My husband's birthday was also on May 16th (I didn't notice that Samyson's was the same until after I chose him)"

No matter your age, your life can be used of the Lord to glorify Him and be a blessing to someone who needs you. You can sponsor a child for $35 a month. Your child will attend Christian school, receive meals and medical help. Together, we can transform the lives of children in Haiti.

One afternoon during the conference, Bill Jr. met a young doctor who grew up in Cotin. He explained that he had been sponsored through Mission To Haiti as a child. The support he received allowed him to graduate high school, and it opened the door for him to go on to medical school. He wanted to stop and thank us for helping him.

On the last day, everybody formed a big circle in the school yard. One by one, every person declared their commitment to being a godly leader by saying "I am not ashamed!"

Each of these young people has the potential to be used of God in a great way. Your prayers and support remove obstacles and provide hope when it is needed most. Thank you.
