

Building For The Future Of Haiti

Bill Jr with a group of sponsored children on the property at the mission campus

Twenty twenty-three has been a very challenging year for the Haitian people. The constant presence of gangs and the general instability across the country has caused many families to feel helpless and hopeless. For some, they believe their best option is to leave Haiti altogether. In 2023, thousands of Haitians left Haiti for the U.S., Europe and South America.

Most Haitians have stayed. It is to these children and families that Mission To Haiti is called to serve. In fact, there are young Haitian men and women who want to stay in Haiti. They want to be a part of the next generation that provides genuine solutions. Mission To Haiti stands with them and will continue to equip Haitians to change Haiti for Christ.

Called To Serve The Least Of These

This is Brunel. For years, he served on Mission To Haiti's mission teams as an interpreter. When the medical teams came to Haiti, Brunel helped them care for people through the mobile medical clinics. The experience cultivated Brunel's love for helping those in need.

In November, an anonymous donor provided Brunel with a brand new motorcycle. Bill Jr. had the opportunity to arrange the purchase and delivery of it. Brunel did not know beforehand that he was receiving a new motorcycle. So when he saw it, he was speechless. He explained the blessing this new motorcycle will be for the new ministry that God has called him.

As they sat and talked, Brunel shared with Bill Jr. about the church where he and his family are serving.

Brunel with the new motorcycle he will use to travel to his rural church

The church is in the town of Liberté near the boarder with the Dominican Republic. The organization that built the church is no longer there. The Haitian pastor who led the church died. As Brunel explained, the people live in misery. Families there are among the poorest he has seen. One family has young teenage daughters who are pregnant.

Brunel visited the church and immediately the congregation was drawn to him. They asked him to be their pastor, and he agreed. He is attending a Bible school near by so he can be fully equipped to serve as the pastor. The church is already seeing results. So far 40 people have been saved.

Brunel said the two passages that inspire him are James 1:27 and Matthew 25:40, "...inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Brunel said it's his dream to serve in a church like this. We believe God will use men like this to bring revival to Haiti.
